Park Chats with the Highlands Ranch Metro District

The Highlands Ranch Metro District invites the community to join them for Park Chats, a new program launching this September. Three Park Chats will be held at different locations throughout the community touching on a topic unique to the park site hosting the event.

“Park Chats is a new idea to invite people out to the different parks in our community. We hope people come, ask questions and come away with a better understanding of what’s going on in their neighborhood,” said Tom Hoby, director of parks, recreation and open space.

Park Chats scheduled for September include:

Cheese Ranch Historic & Natural Area, Wednesday, Sept. 2, 6 – 7 pm

Topics: Improvements around the windmill, wildlife questions, vandalism or other concerns about the natural area.

Civic Green Park, Wednesday, Sept. 16, 6 – 7 pm

Topics: Meet your Metro District board members

Spring Gulch Equestrian Area, Thursday, Oct. 1, 6 – 7 pm at Redstone Park

Topics: An introduction to the Spring Gulch Equestrian Area, update on improvement projects and upcoming equestrian events.

Metro District board members and staff will be present at each Park Chat and will be available to answer questions about any Metro District-related project or service. Light refreshments will be served to guests.

Founded in 1981 as the local government in Highlands Ranch, Colo., the Metro District provides a variety of municipal services to this planned community of 93,000 people. Learn more about the Metro District at www.highlandsranch.org.
